LIFE IN CRYSTALS.

Startling Discovery Just Made in Naples.

The Strange Theory of Prof. Von Schroen, of the University Medical Faculty—A Revolution in Treating Disease.

The hills and mountains are not dead masses.

They are filled with life. Their rocks and boulders hide in their bosoms stern contentions between countless numbers—strife to the death.

In a word, there is life in crystals. Hence there is life in the inorganic world.

This discovery has been made by Prof. Von Schroen, one of the medical faculty of the Naples university, in Italy. Herbert Spencer has investigated the theory and pronounces it genuine. He has scarcely dared to predict the tremendous results which it will produce.

Dr. Von Holst, head instructor in history at the University of Chicago, has, through layman's eyes, seen the wonderful discovery and gives the facts to the world.

This new truth will revolutionize philosophy. It strikes right to the core of nature. The discovery of the germ was a grand stride in the medical world. This will be an advance a thousand times greater. Its influence will extend to every branch of science. It forms a new theory. It brings up the question whether the world, after all, is not more organic than inorganic. It presses close to the base of all creation.

One of its first practical results will probably be found in hygiene. One crystal destroys another, it is shown. This alone will be a powerful factor in the fight against disease. As the rays of the discovery spread, savants will spring up and apply this new basis of thought to their particular branches.

Dr. Von Holst will soon publish the news far and wide. He wishes to raise $300,000 for Prof. Von Schroen, that he can present the discovery in every possible phase to learned men in all quarters of the globe.

Prof. Von Schroen is a Bavarian by birth. He is 60 years of age and has spent half his life and nearly his entire fortune in working out his theory.

The savant made his discovery by bringing the strongest magnifying glasses to bear upon crystals. He watched their development. He photographed the results. He has thousands of these views taken from 11 different kinds of crystals.

The views show the crystal in its birth, the head showing forth from the mother crystal and the course is followed as it pushed out and away. Then in the language of enthusiasm Dr. Von Holst said:

"The crystal meets another—one from a different mother. The two strike at each other, they fight, strike and clash with each other. It is war to the death. It is a case of the survival of the fittest. One must die! No two crystals from the same mother ever fight, however, no matter where they meet."

All this, the life, the development and the contention, is set forth in the views, so all can be convinced who see them. "I am a historian, not a scientist," said Dr. Von Holst, "so I saw all this but as a layman. There is no room for doubt, however. Spencer and others have studied my friend's views. They cannot be mistaken."

Dr. Von Holst met Prof. Von Schroen while traveling in Italy recently and received treatment at his hands.

"The sum of $500,000 is not too large," he said, "it is costly and laborious work to bring out these microscopic views. We want thousands made. We want them distributed through the world, so all may profit by this discovery."—Chicago Journal.

Germany has 55 bicycle tracks. Linton says that he expects to ride 60 miles inside of two hours during this season.

The rumor that Gladstone, at the age of 87, had learned to ride a bicycle, was as silly as it is untrue.

When the bicycle first appeared in India it was not at all an uncommon thing for natives to fall down and worship it. Calcutta can probably claim more woman cyclists than any other city in India. They ride very well, too.

There are indications that the festive scorchers will tire of his fun before long. The police are arresting these fast youth in all directions, and it costs every one of them from five to ten dollars to attain his freedom. That is too costly sport.

The real secret of riding a bicycle safely on a crowded street is to ride slowly, never to relax watchfulness, and to keep from three to six yards behind the vehicle you are following. A slow rider can stop and dismount, or jump at a moment's notice. The fast rider cannot do it with safety, or quickly enough.

Infections Maladies in Italy. According to an eminent Italian hygienic expert, official medical returns show that in Italy 300,000 persons die every year from infectious—that is, from preventable—maladies, most of them being young, "the hope of families."

THE TRIUMPH OF LOVE? Happy and Fruitful Marriage.

Every MAN who would know the GRAND TRUTHS, the Plain Facts, the Old Secrets and the New Discoveries of Medical Science as applied to Married Life, who would guard for past follies and avoid future pitfalls, should write for our wonderful little booklet called "Complete Marriage and How to Attain It." This current issue we will mail one copy Entirely Free, in plain sealed cover.

ERIE MEDICAL CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

The Strength of Nature.

According to the ancient mythology, when Hercules wrestled with Anteus, every time he was thrown he jumped up again stronger than ever, gaining fresh power from earth. Herein—only remedy to really cure him must be a natural remedy. It must work according to natural laws and bring him right in touch with Nature. Any unnatural stimulus or mere temporary "appetizer" does no permanent good to a person who is debilitated and run-down.

In these conditions the most perfect, natural strength-builder is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It acts directly upon the natural nutritive processes, and creates solid, permanent strength and vital force in the same way that Nature creates them.

It capacitates the stomach and liver to vitalize the circulation and feed the nerve-centers with pure, healthy blood. This is exactly Nature's way of curing nervous exhaustion, debility, insomnia, and neuralgia.

During the past 30 years, Dr. Pierce's medicines have become recognized standard remedies throughout the world. His "Pleasant Pellets" are a perfect and permanent cure for constipation.

Sister Ellen J. de Falcou, of Corpus Christi, Nueces Co., Texas, writes: "This is to tell you that I have been ill for twenty-one years and was finally cured by your medicines 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription.' I was completely cured after taking the medicine."

Coffee Jelly.

This dessert may be made in two ways. In each the gelatine must be soaked in an equal amount of water—that is, one-half box of gelatine requires one-half cup of cold water. Then, if it is supposed that the sweetened jelly will be acceptable, a cup of water and three-quarters of a cup of sugar may be made into a hot sirup and poured over the dissolved gelatine. Add 1 1/2 cups of strong coffee, strain, stir in one teaspoonful of vanilla, and pour into a mould which has been wet with cold water. Turn out just before serving, and send around whipped cream with the dish. If the sweetening sirup is omitted, the quantity of strong, hot coffee must be increased, and powdered sugar served with the jelly, to be added by those who like any. Tea jelly is made in the same way as coffee jelly, a little lemon juice taking the place of the vanilla.—N. Y. Post.

BIDS WANTED.

SEALED BIDS WILL BE RECEIVED BY the President of the University, at his office, up to August 6th, 1897.

At 10 o'clock A. M., for furnishing one hundred and fifty cords of good lumber and lumber pine wood. Said wood to be delivered at any of the buildings on the University grounds or before November 1, 1897. No lumber wood will be accepted. The President reserves the right to reject any and all bids. Bidders enclosing bids should be marked "Bids for Wood." By order of the President, J. H. TAYLOR, Secretary.

BASEBALL.

Detroit recently released four of its players.

Tim Donahue is the hardest loser among the colts.

Danny Friend is pitching winning ball for Kansas City.

McJames, of Washington, doesn't like to pitch on Sunday.

"Buck Ewing's Quitters" is what the reds are now being dubbed.

The colonels make a specialty of double plays in their practice work.

The colts lead the league up to date in the number of double plays made.

Dick Cooley is just now the boss batter and base purloiner of the Phillies.

Frank Selee is said to be willing to wager that Boston will finish one-two. Catcher Ganzel is the only bean-eater who has been with the team eight years.

It looks as if Tommy Tucker's days in the big league are over. Nobody seems to want him.

St. Paul seems to have a cinch on first place in the western league race, for the present at least.

Buck Ewing is said to have the prettiest set of baseball fingers of any player in the business.

The St. Louis bleachers roast Von der Ahe whenever they get a glimpse of him in the stand or on the field.

Many a veteran ball player has been relegated to the bench this season and many a youngster has developed into a star.

Bar St. Louis, the western teams have shown themselves to be fully as strong as their eastern rivals on the present shift around.

Catcher Charley Farrell is said to have a new trick this season. In practice he apparently has great difficulty in throwing the ball down to second, but when the game starts he nips the first base runner who tries to steal the bag.

CARE FOR THE EYES.

Keep soap and dust out of the eyes.

Never read or use the eyes for fine work during twilight.

When the eyes are weak sleep all that is possible.

Shade the eyes from the full glare of the sunlight.

Let the light come to your eyes from one side or from above, not from in front.

Have an abundance of good, steady light for any work you may have on hand.

Do not work in a poor light, and avoid a glaring light, as it may be as bad as too little light.

Do not use a flickering light for reading or sewing. Use a lamp with a large burner, and use good oil.

When the eyes are hot and heavy bathe them in cold or tepid water, and do not confine them too closely to any sort of work.

Whenever the eyes ache or are easily fatigued use them as little as possible, and look up frequently from the work to rest them.

When reading hold the head erect and at a distance from the light, and do not bend the head over the needlework.

Avoid poorly-printed books with poor paper and poor type, and do not read when riding in cars or carriage, nor when comatose from a protracted illness, nor when the whole body is in a weakened state.

THE PRESIDENT SNUBBED.

The President has received an unexpected repulse from his supposed friends in Congress. The moment the tariff bill was passed he sent a message to the two Houses calling attention to the importance of establishing our currency and banking business on a better basis. He says a notable assembly of business men was held at Indianapolis in January of this year, which, after a two days' session, recommended the appointment of a monetary commission.

President McKinley commends the report of this assemblage of moneyed men and says the subject should not be postponed till the regular session. He therefore urges and recommends that a special commission be created, to be composed of well informed citizens of different parties, whose duty it shall be to make recommendations of whatever changes in our present banking and currency laws as may be found necessary and expedient.

It appears that all the Congressmen, except those who are completely under the thumbs of the President and the bankers, looked upon this message as a direct insult and gave it no consideration whatever. It was not even referred to a committee in the Senate, though several silver men offered to stay and make a quorum until the Senate disposed of the matter. The Republicans paid no attention to the recommendation of the President and turned up their noses at his suggestions to appoint a committee.

The Congress of the United States consists of ninety Senators and three hundred and fifty-six Representatives. These men are elected by the people as provided by the constitution, though it is strongly suspected that Mr. Hanna resorted to methods not provided for in that instrument to elect many members of the present House. Congress is supposed to have the ability to frame and enact laws for the coinage of money as provided by the constitution without the assistance of a commission of Eastern bankers more intent on providing means to enrich themselves than in recommending legislation that would benefit the masses of the people. Congress is under some responsibility to the public, but such a commission as the President suggests would be responsible to no one. It would not represent the people because it would be under no obligations to them, and it would doubtless be composed of Republican and Democratic gold men, such as those who met at Indianapolis and recommended the appointment of such a committee. There was not a bimetal list at the Indianapolis gathering and it is doubtful if one should be appointed on the commission. It would be composed of gold men exclusively and it's remedy for dull times would most likely be, what the Indianapolis convention suggested, the retirement of all Government notes, which draw no interest, and the issuance of national bank notes based on Government bonds which do draw interest, the scheme being to let the banks, instead of the Government, issue money, and tax the people to pay the banks interest on the bonds which they deposited with the Government as security for the redemption of their notes.

Congress deserves commendation for snubbing the President. If as important a matter as the regulation of our finances is to be entrusted to a commission let us amend the constitution, abolish Congress altogether and have the President appoint a commission to enact our laws.

The friends of Internal Revenue Collector Welburn in San Francisco claim that he is insane and his actions while in office indicate that they are about right. He squandered the money of the Government as if he owned the Klondyke mines and didn't care a nickel for expenses. It may be difficult, however, to convince the minions of the law that he did not know what he was about; yet Durrant is a living witness of what San Francisco lawyers can do if properly fed.

A rumor is current in Washington that John Sherman is rich enough to retire from politics and that he will be succeeded in the Cabinet by Whitelaw Reid, a son-in-law of D. O. Mills and a candidate for Vice President in 1892. Mr. Sherman's recent manifesto against trusts seemed a little like death-bed repentance. When Honest John was robust the trusts and combinations had no firmer friend than he.

ONE paragraph of the new tariff act places a duty of 25 cents a bushel on various kinds of fruits, while another paragraph fixes the duty on the same kinds of fruits at two cents per pound. It was evident that Mr. Reed and Mr. Dingley put the bill through the House in too great a hurry. Probably the Treasury Department will decide to collect the duty imposed in both paragraphs.

SUGAR went up yesterday. It was quoted at $6 60 per sack, an advance of ten cents. The sugar trust gets the ten cents and the consumer pays it. Other necessities of life will now advance in price and the poor will soon feel the effect of the new tariff law. While the trusts will get all the prosperity the poor will get all the adversity and poverty.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

The strike in the coal fields still continues, notwithstanding the reports last week that a few days more would see the end.

The miners in the Monogah region have gone out en-masse. The miners in the Great Kanawha Valley have banked on Governor Atkinson's good will and have gone out. There is great excitement.

Thomas E. Young, representative of M. A. Hanna & Co. of Cleveland, Ohio, has gone to Pittsburg in the hope of bringing about a speedy settlement. The Cleveland operators are hopeful that the conference will result satisfactorily.

A body of Pana and Mowqua, of Illinois, miners, headed by drum and fife, marched to the Assumption shaft and forced the men loading coal to cease work. Yesterday morning when the whistles blew not a man went to work.

The conference of the Pittsburg coal operators was held yesterday and it was largely attended. The conference was an open one and miners' officials and citizens were admitted as spectators. The "true uniformity" plan is the only business presented as yet.

The operators are apathetic and do not have much confidence in the settlement by arbitration, yet are willing to meet and discuss the plans proposed. The arbitrators are anxious to have 95 per cent of the 89 operators in the Pittsburg district agree to adopt a system or standard of doing business. The conference organized, elected officers and appointed committees and adjourned.

The leaders of the labor organizations of the country are in conference at Wheeling, Virginia. It is believed that a more determined effort will have to be made to call a general strike in the West Virginia fields. It is thought that it will be impossible to bring about a general strike as the conductors, firemen and brakemen will not go out, but they will be asked to refuse to man trains carrying West Virginia coal. This measure is a last resort and will not be tried until all else fails.

The steamer State of California sailed for the Northwest from San Francisco yesterday morning, and 12,000 people gathered to witness the departure of the miners for the Yukon. There were 317 people who took passage on the steamer. They were given an enthusiastic farewell.

O. M. Welburn, the deposed Collector of Internal Revenue, was held in San Francisco yesterday to answer to the charge of embezzlement under a bond in the sum of $10,000.

The Klondyke excitement has struck the neighborhood of San Jose and the driers are now engaged in evaporating potatoes and other vegetables to be sold in that country.

A printer named J. C. Campbell is reported to have returned to Sacramento from the Klondyke with $35,000 in dust as a result of three years' labor.

Geo. F. Pijler and M. Schoedde of Santa Cruz, charged with mayhem, entered a plea of not guilty in the Superior Court yesterday.

Secretary Gage was tendered a dinner by Boston business men yesterday. There were about one hundred and fifty persons present.

Ex-Senator Doolittle of Wisconsin died at Providence, R. I., of Bright's disease. He was 82 years old.

FACTS AND FIGURES.

The Roxburghe (England) Press are spending nearly $50,000 on their new edition of Dickens.

A bright little newspaper, the Indian Guide, is published at the Shoshone (Wyo.) agency, the editors, printers and all the rest being full-blooded redskins.

The electric railway in Cairo, Egypt, is about 20 miles long. More than 600 miles of American iron and copper wire have been used for this line.

The cries of sea birds, especially seagulls, are very valuable as fog signals. These birds cluster on the cliffs and coasts, and their cries warn boatmen that they are near the land.

The reason why so many British rivers are called Avon is said to be that the term is a Welsh word, meaning river, and the word should be pronounced with the "A" short, Av-on.

Bank of England notes are made from new white linen cuttings—never from anything that has been worn. So carefully is the paper prepared that even the number of dips into the pulp made by each workman is registered on a dial by machinery.

CYCLING POINTS.

If a cyclist in France fails to inform the authorities that he owns a bicycle, he is charged double tax.

New York is following the lead of other states, and prohibiting wheelmen carrying children on their bicycles.

J. E. Snell, the Australian cyclist, recently rode from Adelaide to Melbourne—a distance of 595½ miles—in two days 14 hours, 3¼ minutes. Snell went the whole distance without sleep.

Another chainless bicycle has been put on the market, and now it is claimed that success is assured. We have heard this talk before.

In the Boston parks wheelmen are forbidden to stand or lean a wheel against any of the walls or fences. Perhaps there is some reason for such a law, but it would be hard to find.

Niagara is the first county in New York to adopt a bicycle tax. The new side path law went into effect April 3. It taxes bicycles 50 cents annually. Up to noon, 1,074 licenses had been taken out. Delinquents are liable to have their wheels seized and sold.

THE BONDHOLDERS ALARMED.

An Instructive Dialogue Between a Miner and a Bondholder.

Bondholder.—Mr. Miner, you immense gold discoveries up in Alaska is a very serious affair. You have no right to impair the value of our bonds by such a rapid increase in the production of gold.

Miner.—This world has been in the clutches of the bondholder long enough. You thought the gold mines had all been discovered and the production would be extremely limited and your vaults would easily hold the entire supply, hence, you had everything else demonetized. I well remember how the discovery of the Crown Point and Belcher bonanza alarmed you and you demonetized silver. Now you want to limit the production of gold by law so you can continue to hold the people in hopeless bondage. Your scheme won't work. There is enough gold between Alaska and the North pole to pay off every bond and mortgage, and have enough left to pave many of our streets.

B. H.—Don't be so sure about paying off our bonds with gold after you have imported millions of tons from Alaska. It only requires an act of Congress to make the bonds payable in something else, and before your shipments of gold could arrive from Alaska we will convene Congress in extraordinary session and make the bonds payable in diamonds or some other article that we can easily corner and lock up.

M.—I will admit that up to the present time you bondholders have been the rulers of the planet. In ancient times you were called slaveholders. But the slaves had a market value and you were solicitous about their health. This was a very onerous burden and you changed from slaveholder to bondholder, and if a bondsman gets sick and dies, you have no funeral expenses or doctor bills, and the full amount of interest on your bonds is paid by other bondsmen. If the amount of gold could be limited to five or ten billion dollars you could continue to hold the people in bondage, but the frigid zone contains plenty of gold to free the world from debt and put the business on a cash basis. It begins to look as if you bondholders will have to adopt some other way of making a living besides collecting interest.

B.—It is a waste of time to discuss the bond question with a miner. They do not understand the details of finance like we bondholders. All that is necessary for us to do is to control national legislation and Alaska gold fields will become worthless. Good day, Mr. Miner. I am very sorry that you do not comprehend how completely the mining, as well as every other industry is at our mercy.

FARMER.

Reno, July 28, 1897.

A Mysterious Organization.

The JOURNAL reporter was invited to a reunion on Monday evening of a strange fraternity known among the members as the "Midnight Prowlers." Upon being ushered into the room where this club holds forth the reporter was struck by the hangings and curtains as they were indicative of deep mourning. A couple of coffins were prominent and a human skull in a flower vase and a stag's head and antlers ornamented the banquetting table and led one to believe that the association was a suicide club or a branch of the Ku Klux Klan or some similar combine. The reporter concluded that he was about to be made the victim of some practical joke and decided to take his medicine without a squeal as the five men that composed the party had him at their mercy. Soon steaming dishes and platters filled with various products of the culinary art were produced and placed upon the table and the party was told to be seated. The master of ceremonies took his place at the head of the table and laying a gun at the side of his plate spoke in the blandest manner imaginable as follows: "Gentlemen the feast is prepared, you will proceed to discuss the viands set before you, and the rules of this club makes it imperative that nothing shall be left of the eatables and drinkables." All fell to with a will and as the excellently prepared dishes faded away before those six hungry men it began to dawn on the reporter that there was no joking with the "Midnight Prowlers," but everything was a substantial reality. He is at a loss, however, to account for the gruesome character of the decorations and furniture in the room, but will probably know more about it when he takes the next degree.

An Old Washoeite Passes Away.

Nat Holmes, one of the early residents of Washoe City, and well known by the old Washoe county residents, passed away at Datura, Lassen county, July 19th, after a long illness. Both of the Susanville papers speak in words of praise of the deceased as a good citizen of the community in which he lived and one that will be sorely missed. He had lived in Lassen county about twenty years. He leaves a widow and several sons and daughters to mourn his death.

Much Pleasanter.

How much pleasanter it is to swing in a hammock and watch a man struggling with a lawn-mower, and think how much pleasanter it is to swing in a hammock and watch a man struggling with a lawn-mower than it is to struggle with a lawn-mower and think how much pleasanter it is to swing in a hammock and watch a man struggling with a lawn-mower than it is to struggle with a lawn-mower. —Somerville (Mass.) C. H. Wilbur, Chas. D. Lane and G. S. Nixon left this morning for Central district. Mr. Lane will probably take a lease and bond on the Golden Eagle mine in that district, and put the workings to a depth of 300 below the present lowest level. —Silver State.

T. W. Boalt is pushing his sale in order to fulfill his engagements for a trip to the Klondyke. Everyone should call at his store in the Investment Company's new building and take advantage of his bargains in groceries. Everything is being sold at cost and in some instances below.

Internal Revenue Collector Charles May as an amateur photographer has taken many views of Reno and immediate surroundings. Charlie has a peculiar faculty, whether from taste or accident, of securing better photographs than professionals, and his pictures should be souvenirs for every child born in Reno.

SIERRA NEVADA.

Nine feet of ore cut into the North drift from the Layton Tunnel.

Nine feet of gold ore has been cut into the north drift from the Layton tunnel in the Sierra Nevada mine. The find occurred yesterday, the deposit of ore being uncovered at a point 250 feet north of the tunnel while the north drift was being timbered. The stock sold for $1.40 to-day.

A crosscut run into the ledge shows four feet of ore which is reported to assay $60 a ton in gold, and five feet of ore assaying about $25 a ton. The discovery is both valuable and important. The length and depth of the ore body is yet to be determined. If the deposit shows up a bonanza everybody will be delighted. —Chronicle.

Why go to the Klondyke.

C. H. West and Lon Dunn have found an immense ledge of quartz at Gold Run basin near Golconda. It is reported to be forty feet wide from wall to wall and it is said that it is almost impossible to break off a piece of rock that does not carry free gold. The Silver State in commenting on the new find says:

"Why should prospectors think of going to the frozen north and face the hardships of Chilcoot pass and deep snow, and perhaps starvation, to hunt for the yellow stuff, when such mines as the above can be found right here at home, in God's country, where we have sunshine all the year round and can work out doors winter or summer? Nevada is not half prospected."

Sampling Works.

O. J. Smith, of Reno, arrived here last Saturday, accompanied by his wife. One of the objects of Mr. Smith's visit was to look into the feasibility of establishing a sampling works here for the purpose of handling the ores of this and neighboring districts. He looked over the Eureka Con. works, and we understand that he was very well pleased with the company's plant. His examination was made with a view to leasing the property. Everything is yet in a formative stage, and nothing can be definitely stated as to just when operations may be commenced, but that the enterprise will certainly be established seems to be an assured fact. —Sentinel.

Ancient Thermopylae.
An officer of the English intelligence department reports that in spite of the fact, which is well known, that the sea has receded since ancient times, the strategic position of this ancient pass is still immensely strong. The alternative route by Deleghi, which crosses the hills 1 1/2 miles north of the springs by well-engineered zigzags, is equally capable of defense, and leads into a country of a most difficult character. Either pass might be held indefinitely by 5,000 men. The coast road is absolutely commanded from the heights so that a comparatively small force would render it impassable, while the flat lowland lying near the sea is marshy and intersected by dykes.

Sharp Scotchman.

The Scottish American tells a story of a cobbler who was sentenced by a Scottish magistrate to pay a fine of half a crown, or, in default, 24 hours' hard labor. If he chose the latter he would be taken to the jail at Perth. "Then I'll go to Perth," he said, "for I have some business there." An official conveyed him to Perth, but when the cobbler reached the jail he said he would pay the fine. The governor found he would have to take it. "And now," said the cobbler, "I want my fare home." The governor demurred, but discovered there was no alternative; the prisoner must be sent at the public expense to the place he had been brought from.
